HOMEOWNERS CLAIM REZONING ILLEGAL

MAJORITY OR TWO-THIRDS?

DC Planning Commission's Vote Queried

City council and planning commission "majority" decisions became a technical issue Monday night as the legality of passing earlier issues by two-thirds vote was brought out by City Attorney Paul Hupf.

Hupf declared that under the existing state government code in August when the Garibaldi-Price streets apartment zoning was passed by the planning commission, a two-thirds vote of the commission was necessary. There were only three planners present for the August decision, however, thus this two-thirds requirement was not met. The decision was 3-0 by the planners.

Hupf said he brought the matter up primarily because this point was raised last week by Garibaldi street homeowners who fought the rezoning to apartments from the start. The city attorney, noting that in September the state code was amended to change the two-thirds voting requirement to a mare "majority," declared however that the homeowners' point was valid because the planners' 3-0 decision on the rezoning was made when the two-thirds specification was still in effect.

Hupf said that it would follow that if the commission had adhered to the state code in August, four votes were required for passage of the rezoning instead of the three that were registered—thus the two-thirds requirement, as per law, was not met.

Councilman Micheal DeBernardi said that if Hupf's interpretation were true, "then many, many items the council and commissions have voted on in the past are illegal."

DeBernardi added that if this two-thirds vote was illegal "then we'd be ruling out all quorum decisions." The councilman's point was that it would be useless to rescind previous action because of the technicality.

Councilman Joseph Verducci took a contrary view. "The council has to follow the advice of the city attorney," he stated, "but this was the first time this technicality has been called to our attention."

Attorney John Putkey, representing apartment builder Gus Pedemonte (who was granted the Garibaldi-Price rezoning), said he disagreed with Hupf and feels the planners' procedure was proper and shouldn't be changed.

DeBernardi suggested the council take the matter under study at its December 10 adjourned meeting when bids for the new Westlake library will be opened.

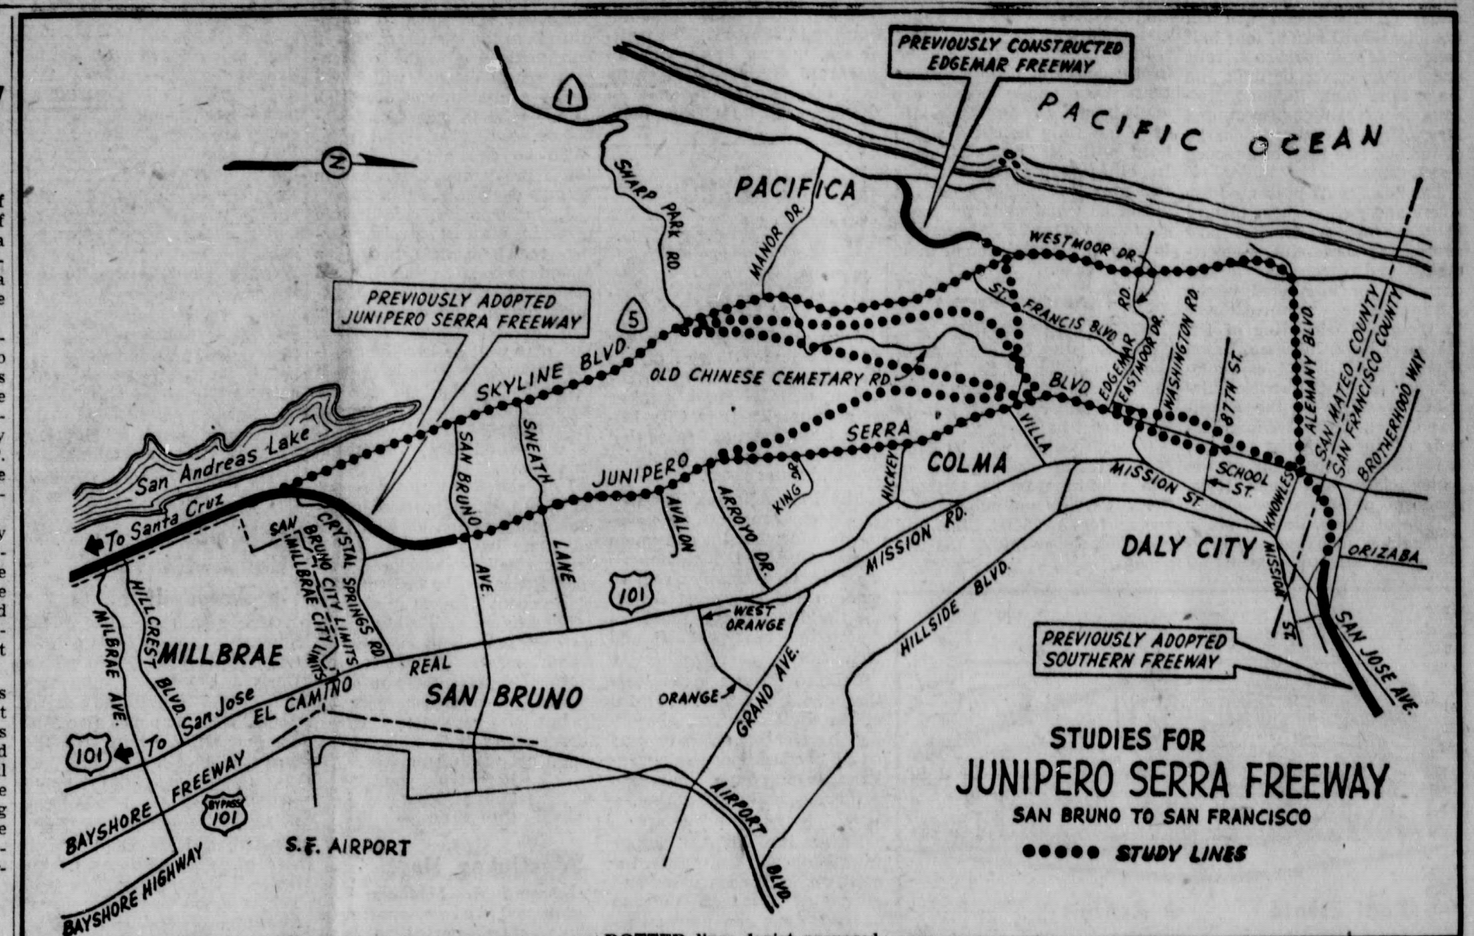
POLICE CHIEFS WANT ACADEMY ON PENINSULA

Daly City Police Chief Petrocchi and Broadmoor Chief Ray Savage have joined in a proposal with six other department heads from Peninsula cities to operate a joint police academy.

The academy would only instruct in matters pertaining to law enforcement and costs would be sharded between the cities and the state. The proposal for the academy recently was placed before John P. Peper, state supervisor of peace officers' training in Sacramento.

The first classes will probably he held at the South San Francisco police facilities. In the future, the curriculum will be expanded to provide advanced courses for police officers seeking promotion or improvement in their work.

College of San Mateo campus is earmarked for the permanent site of the academy as phases of the work would be operated through the college's vocational education coordinator. The State Peace Officers' Training department would assume the major share of planning, instructor procurement and curriculum.



DOTTED lines depict proposed routes for the Daly City-dividing Junipero Serra freeway, under study by the state. Public hearing on the JS route and possible adoption of it and laterals that could cut through Westlake or St. Francis Heights are scheduled for South San Francisco in January. Daly City's freeway committee will meet next Monday night at 8 in City Hall to discuss all the routes.

Firemen Assist Volunteers In Big Barn Blaze

Public spirited citizens pulled two fire alarm boxes which helped Daly City firemen quell a blaze which did approximately $1000 damage to hay and a barn on the uninhabited Christen property south of St. Francis Heights last Thursday.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said two alarm boxes were pulled in Daly City, one at 10:37 a.m. and the other at 11:41 a.m. Though not in the territory covered by the Daly City fire department the hosemen responded to the scene, approximately 100 feet out of local jurisdiction and on county property.

When firemen arrived no one was at the scene and the fire "was going pretty good," according to Kennedy.

By the time the fire trucks went down to the Edgemar road, thence to Junipero Serra boulevard and over a private road to get to the hilltop fire, Colma volunteers were on hand.

The police department notified county authorities while Colma and DC firemen fought the flames. Kennedy said two barns, close together and badly dried out, were on fire. By the time one was extinguished this structure was completely burned to the ground.

The county fire department and Colma, led by Assistant Fire Chief Mike Lanza, worked on the second barn as the DC department returned to the station. Kennedy said juveniles apparently started the blaze on the dairy farm property south of the McKeon tract.

STATE IS 'READY'

Council Reactivates Freeway Committee

Councilman Francis Pacelli will reactivate Daly City's freeway committee on Monday night at 8 p.m. in City Hall, as residents gather for a united effort so that the Junipero Serra freeway route, scheduled for public hearing and possible adoption in January in South San Francisco, will be the least destructive of many routes being studied by the State Division of Highways.

City Attorney Paul Hupf and other north San Mateo County officials were summoned to the State Highway office in San Francisco last week, learning that the January meeting by the State Division could lead to prompt adoption of the basic freeway routes in the north county.

Hupf stressed the necessity of Daly City officials to be prepared as quickly as possible for a careful analysis of the state's routes so that the Junipero Serra route most beneficial to DC could be argued for with convincing substantiation by the city freeway committee and the city-hired engineering firm of Wilsey and Ham.

Hupf revealed that the state's long-range plans call eventually for eight-lane interstate freeways (including the Junipero Serra route) and connecting state supplemental freeways which would be six-lane structures.

One of the supplemental routes under study would run off the San Francisco southern freeway from Junipero Serra

City, Doelger, Scavengers Ink Drainage Pact

The dangerous erosion problems at Wild Man's Gulch off old Coast Highway below Daly City's Palisades will soon be corrected via a share-the-cost $7500 project by the city, builder Henry Doelger and the Daly City Scavenger Company.

City Attorney Paul Hupf told the council last week that Doelger and the scavengers were agreeable to construct a drainage structure that will eliminate the immediate danger to the road and to the hilltop homes should more erosion occur.

The three bodies will use drainage plans drafted sometime ago by the state which has refused to accept responsibility for the drainage conditions.

The council in moving to pay one-third of the drainage project agreed with Hupf that the joint effort must be expedited to avert serious consequences.

'JUDO' VICTIM HOLDING ON IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

Doctors at Community Hospital said today that Harvey J. Marston, 20-year-old Daly City youth who was savagely beaten by three young delinquents here November 6, has shown "some improvement" and is expected to live.

Felled by two judo-like blows, the City College of San Francisco student required emergency surgery for a brain hemorhage and fractured skull. His condition is still critical, however, and he isn't able to talk coherently. Physicians fear he may be impaired for life.

Marston's assailants are still in custody on charges of assault to do great bodily harm. If the victim had died, all three teenagers would have been booked for second degree murder.

Council Awards $8905 Contract For Water Line

Thomas Construction Company with a low bid of $8905 Monday night was awarded the contract to install an eight-inch water transmission line between Ben Franklin and Garden Village schools.

The city council received six bids on the project, the highest at $10,798. Public Works Director Otis Calhoun's estimate on the job was $9765. Two of the submitted bids were lower than this estimate.

In other action, the council:

1. Moved to ask Police Chief Roland Petrocchi to their December 10 study session to discuss his request for appointment of a new police sergeant. The position is authorized in the present budget along with two as-yet-to-be-hired new patrolmen.

2. Set December 28 for hearing on vacation of a portion of Edgemar road (Eastmoor) in Westlake Unit 11 next to the new reservoir, and on vacation of a portion of Market street near the Armory.

3. Decided to consult with police chief on city's policy in granting dance permits.

4. Granted license to James Merrill to conduct used car

Council Interviews

FIVE CANDIDATES FOR CITY MANAGER

Daly City councilmen cleared the first hurdle in their quest for a $15,000-minimum new city manager last Friday by interviewing five surviving candidates out of an original field of 24.

Mayor Edward Dennis reported Monday night that the council was "extremely satisfied" with the caliber of the five candidates. All presently are employed in California as city managers and a few of these, Dennis noted, are making close to the $15,000 in salary.

The mayor said the full council next week (Bob St. Clair will be back in town after a three-weeks absence) will again go over the personnel files of the applicants, then make trips to the cities where the men are employed to conduct investigations to supplement the written qualifications.

The council Friday evening spent six hours in San Francisco interviewing the five top men for the job as recommended by the State Personnel Board's Evaluation Committee.

Kenneth Byers, chief of the state agency, noted that in recruiting candidates for the Daly City opening, his board contacted 120 city managers in the state. Twenty-four applications were received and the state then carefully screened this batch down to nine of the "most promising" candidates.

These nine then appeared before the State's Evaluation committee Friday prior to the council's interviews. Serving on this committee and recommending the final five men were Lohn R. Ficklin, city manager of Vallejo; Arthur B. Sullivan, city manager of San Mateo, and John H. Egland, division chief of personnel and research services of the States Compensation Insurance Fund.

SF Union Agent Arrested Here On Sex Charges

A 35-year-old Millbrae man who works as a union business agent was arrested by Daly City police last Friday on a morals charge filed by the parents of a 15-year-old South San Francisco youth.

Maintaining he is not the man police are looking for although the youth identified him positively in a "line-up" is Raymond Francis Fenton, who resides at 652 Santa Barbara, Millbrae. He posted $262 bail for release and is due in municipal court next Tuesday.

The youth, who complained first to South San Francisco police, charges that on two afternoons in October while he was hitchhiking here to see his girlfriend, the suspect offered to give him a ride. In each case, the boy said, the driver made "improper advances and propositions."

The youth memorized Fenton's license number and police tracked down the union agent. Fenton, a married man, is employed by the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers Union Local 377, 200 Guerrero street, San Francisco.

Officer Steve Steen made the arrest after Sgt. Charles Terry coordinated the investigation.

Fenton's only comment was: "I've never seen this boy before. This charge could ruin my life."

City Attorney Cites 'Improvement' Needs

(Editor's Note: Following is letter to the Daly City Council, dated November 24, by City Attorney Paul Hupf containing his opinion on the recently submitted city fiscal report).

Gentlemen:

Examination of the Finance Officer's report prompts the following comments by me.

1. Expenditures in many areas exceeded budgetary authorizations to a considerable extent. While such a condition may occur on occasion for cause, excess expenditures during the the last fiscal year were too widespread.

For the most part this resulted from inadequate central administrative control, and secondly, from a lack of adequate reporting on expenditures.

All responsible City officers must be advised currently on status of expenditures if effective controls are to be exercised. Unless he receives such reports, the department head cannot effectively control his own budget.

2. The Capital Outlay Fund experienced expenditures and encumbrances of $152,000.00 during the last fiscal year, much of which was not proposed in the capital outlay expenditure program originally. There is in the fund as of June 30, 1959, approximately $238,000.00. Revenue during the current year should approximate $175,000.00

Projects pending, which most likely will require expenditure during the current fiscal year, are firehouse, $90,000.00; library, $165,000.00; Westmoor Park, $55,000.00; possible purchase of

Ocean Shore RR Lawsuit Nears Final Verdict

The 10-year-old Ocean Shore Railroad controversy moved closer to settlement Monday morning when the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco turned down Ocean Shore's request to file new evidence in its appeal to prove ownership of the right-of-way land between Southgate and South Mayfair avenues and behind Our Lady of Mercy parish in Westlake.

City Attorney Paul Hupf told the council Monday night that the court's rejection of the new evidence bid perhaps saved an additional year's delay in the final decision. The case will continue December 28 in SF as the court will hear final arguments on the appeal filed by Ocean Shore representatives.

Ocean Shore, which hasn't operated the railroad since 1922, initiated the suit 10 years ago charging that the city's, Doelger's and parish's claims to the right-of-way were unfounded and that the title still belongs to the railroad stockholders.

Hupf, representing Daly City, and attorneys John Healy for Doelger and Andrew Burke for the parish base their combined stand on the assertion that the Ocean Shore has forfeited title to the property by non-use—not utilizing the property for railroad operations.

If the decision is rendered in favor of the respondents (the city, Doelger and the parish), this old right of way (behind Our Lady of Mercy) reverts to these landowners. The parish in particular needs the land for the construction of a second and additional parking facility.

Fitzgerald To Oppose Callan For Supervisor

James Fitzgerald, San Bruno councilman and former mayor, this week announced that he would be a candidate for the San Mateo County board of supervisors.

He will oppose incumbent Thomas J. Callan Sr. of Colma who will seek re-election in the June 1960 primary.

Fitzgerald, who has served on the San Bruno council since 1952, is an insurance man and real estate broker. He was a member of the 1957 county grand jury.

Terms of Supervisors William M. Werder, Redwood City, and Alvin S. Hatch, Half Moon Bay, also expire next year.

It is believed by county political followers that the Fitzgerald-Callan race will be one of the hottest in the balloting.

GRADING on realigned Eastmoor avenue in front of St. Francis Heights and the M. Pauline Brown elementary school site is almost finished, marking the end of more than a year of delays and squabbles between Callan Company and Zita Corporation, the main developers in the area. The disputed route covers less than two blocks in length, yet caused one of the biggest uproars at council meetings in recent Daly City history.

Weigh Finance Dept. Survey

Daly City councilmen entered Monday night's scheduled meeting faced with a decision on whether to authorize an outside accounting firm to make a special audit or "system survey" on the city's fiscal books and budget procedure.

This newspaper went to press earlier than Monday's meeting, thus council action to authorize the special survey had not materialized.

In last Thursday's study session, the four councilmen heard Finance Director Joseph Arch's fiscal '58-'59 report which showed in detail that city finances were in sound shape although several shortcomings in budgeting were evident and many improvements in fiscal policy are needed.

City Attorney Paul Hupf declared that Arch's report was complete and conclusive, then

PLENTY OF TEACHERS . . . BUT —

Where, Oh Where, Have Westmoor High Parents Gone --- PTA Wonders

The Parent-Teacher Association meeting for November 19 was held at the Little Theater of Westmoor High School and the teachers outnumbered the parents two to one.

The few parents who did attend enjoyed a stimulating panel program which offered much food for thought.

Mrs. Larry Green conducted a short meeting and particularly stressed the coming Christmas dinner and Sport Night, December 5, at which time stuffed pajama animals, gift wrappings and other holiday gift items will be on sale. The dinner will cost $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12. The menu will be: Combination salad, one-half baked chicken, macaroni, rolls and butter, coffee or milk and ice cream. Mrs. Richard Mollison is overall chairman and Mrs. Alfred Boreni is in charge of tickets. She may be reached at FL 5-2446.

The Sea Scouts presented the colors and gave a short history of the troop which has now proven a successful "experiment" and which has a few openings for interested boys.

The meeting was turned over to the panel consisting of Dr. Margaret Katz, Jefferson Union High School District psychologist, and panelists Patricia Shirinian, president of the Freshman Class; Mary Varden, president of the sophomore class; Larry Siegel, president of the junior class, and Jack Kyle, president of the senior class.

Type of dress, dating, study restrictions, drinking and driving were some of the topics they discussed. When Miss Shirinian was asked how a parent could control the type of boys her daughter dated, she replied, "It was almost entirely up to the daughter. She would have information about his habits and personality from her classmates and it was up to her to decide if he was the right kind of person to date."

It was agreed by the panel that there was very little drinking and no one approved of teenagers taking part in drinking. However, it was of extreme interest to hear these young adults demanding and expecting adult rights to operate automobiles, etc., constantly referring to themselves as "we kids and children."

Parents hearing this conflict in thought could fully realize that these young people are adult in many respects but still have not fully accepted adulthood with its responsibilities. In other words, parents are still needed for guidance and it would be worthwhile for more parents to attend PTA meetings to help in the guidance of their young people.

St. Thomas More Sodality Meeting

The Sodality of Our Lady of the Assumption of St. Thomas More parish will meet on Tuesday, December 1, at 8 p.m. in the church hall.

Guest speaker will be Miss Mary Tobin, co-ordinator of public information for Catholic Social Service and publicity director for JACKIE. She will speak on the w ork of the two groups.

THIS new "Naturemobile" or Museum - On - Wheels planned by the San Mateo County Junior Museum is attracting nationwide attention. Some 60,000 county students will be visited by the mobile unit beginning in January. The trailer contains no less than 10 scientific displays, awakening in youngsters an interest in the earth and its inhabitants.

DuPont Exec Will Address DC Rotarians

John A. Laberee, manager of the Pacific District of Du Pont Company's Extension Division, will be guest speaker at next week's Daly City Rotary Club meeting, scheduled Wednesday noon at Westlake Bowl banquet room.

The Palo Alto resident will speak on American achievements and what they mean in terms of better living. He will describe the creative role of modern industry in translating the discoveries of pure research into new products and techniques.

Laberee travels extensively throughout the western third of the United States, appearing before university and other educational organizations, civic groups, industrial gatherings and technical societies.

He received his A.B. degree from Wesleyan University, his master's from Harvard, and completed advanced study in other American universities and at the University of Paris.

Irv Scott is program chairman for next week's program. Warren Gabrielli will be the finemaster.

Jack Hurt was program chairman this week. Tony Gaggero was finemaster, and Dr. B. L. Thompson gave the craft talk.

extension of corporation yard, $19,500.00, and potential expenditures in the Westlake Park in conjunction with the elementary school district, which will be at a minimum of $5,000.00. These total in excess of $330,000.00.

To go substantially beyond these projects would result in serious depletion of this fund.

3. In summary, considerable restraint must be exercised during the immediate months ahead to restore the General Fund to a proper balance. Revenues during the current year will hardly exceed estimates, but may well be less than estimates, because some have been estimated on the high side. As an example, sales tax revenues are estimated at $400,000.00. It is doubtful if they will reach this figure.

I am satisfied with the report of Mr. Arch. It provides sufficient information on which an adequate basis may be found for correction and closer control. Steps will be instituted to bring about frequent reports on expenditures and additionally on cash flow, both income and disbursements, so that a true picture is presented not alone on budget and adherence to it, but with respect to whether the revenues of the City exceed or do not reach estimates.

Very truly yours,
Paul M. Hupf
City Attorney

Westlaker Hurt

Leonard I. Mednick, 161 Crestwood drive, apartment 23, was transported to Junipero Serro Hospital Saturday afternoon after he slipped while taking a shower in a bathtub and cut his back.

When he slipped in the tub he backed into a glass door around the tub, breaking it, and accidentally cutting himself, according to the police report.

Auto Ablaze, Damage $400

More than $400 damage was done to an auto owned by Joe Sanchez last Wednesday at 7:28 p.m. when a faulty electric fuel pump kept pumping gas and aiding a fire which started when the ignition set a leaky gas line aflame.

Sanchez was driving his 1956 auto in Westlake when he smelled trouble. He stopped the auto in front of Arthur's in Westlake Shopping Center and the car was ablaze.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said firemen had to stop the fuel pump from pumping gas before the fire could be extinguished. He noted $400 worth of damage was done to the motor and paint of the car. Firemen from Central Station and Firehouses 2 and 6 responded.

Policeman Claims Housewife Tipsy In Accident Here

Officer Matthew Murray has made the request to the district attorney's office that Mrs. Doris J. O'Beck, 32, a housewife, 1075 Crestwood drive, South San Francisco, be charged with driving on the wrong side of the road.

Mrs. O'Beck's auto allegedly strick a parked car belonging to John L. Harness, 266 Chester street, Daly City, which was parked in front of his house, last Friday at 7:45 p.m. The woman was transported to Junipero Serra Hospital by M&D Ambulance when she complained of pain.

From reports received from the woman's husband, Mrs. O'Beck allegedly had been drinking at home and in a tavern after an argument with her spouse. She claimed the auto she struck was "too far away from the curb."

Weigh Survey On Finance

added that the council in the future should pay strict attention to its adopted capital outlay budgets and also reconcile its cash position with budget specifications so that the confusion that appeared over the last fiscal budget would not repeat itself.

Only Councilman Micheal DeBernardi challenged the feasibility of a special audit or system survey "at this time." He said he felt the city finance director's report and the forthcoming city auditor's report verifying Arch's statements were ample evidence of the city's financial status.

DeBernardi believes that a special audit would be costly and would duplicate the work of Arch and city auditor Bob Hunter. DeBernardi said he thought the council was satisfied with Arch's statements confirming the city's solvency and that he would prefer to wait at least six months before the council should authorize the special finance system survey that could recommend improvements in city fiscal policies and procedure.

Councilman Joseph Verducci, however, declared that the outside audit and system survey was a "necessary safeguard because the people must be made sure that everything is in order."

This special survey, Verducci reminded, would check the validity of Arch's report on last fiscal year's expenditures and revenues and also would recommend procedures that would improve the city's budget and fiscal operations.

Declaring that the council "ultimately is held responsible" for poor fiscal control and procedures, Verducci said there was no question that these two phases of Daly City government had broken down during the George Watts regime as city manager and "we must be assured that this does not happen again."

Both Arch and Hunter agreed that there were shortcomings in the last fiscal budget and emphasized the need for more frequent reports to the council on the city's fiscal status, which both men claimed has been their intention for some time following a changeover in the finance department.

Arch's report in particular outlined 10 phases of finance operations that could be improved upon. He took over the department after it had been without a full-time director for almost seven months. This was one of the main reasons, he said, so much confusion ensued over the budget, and many adjustments in procedure had to be instituted.

Representatives of the Arthur Anderson national auditing firm, who have offered to make the special survey for the council, estimate that a spot check survey to analyze expenditures and revenues and to examine finance department procedures would cost approximately $6000, based on per-hour fee arrangement.

All four councilmen (Bob St. Clair was absent) agree that this system survey is a sound idea, although they feel Arch has established sound procedures and that these will be supplemented by his additional recommendations.

Councilman Francis Pacelli and Mayor Edward Dennis agree that the system survey is necessary and that it would not be impractical in view of its dual purpose. Pacelli noted that the city attorney believes a system survey instead of a full and costly general audit is all that is desired.

Verducci, again pointing out that the council is responsible for overall city affairs, declared that "we know who is to blame for this situation and to prevent similar developments we must be sure that we have a good city manager."

"After all," Verducci asserted," we (council) can't devote eight hours a day to this job and we must rely on good administrators and department heads."

Arch said the improvements he has made in his department since taking command include monthly reports to the council on the flow of cash—statements showing how all funds stand and how earmarked projects are being expedited as per council adoption.

Hunter added that his final report for fiscal '58-'59 would be followed by more frequent statements on the city's fund status and full explanations by him to the council.

During Thursday's session Verducci told Hunter that he felt the council wanted him (Hunter) to make verbal reports in his quarterly audits. Verducci said that in the past Hunter's reports appeared satisfactory but that the city auditor seldom was present to explain their meaning "to laymen like us" when the reports are submitted to the council.

Freeway Move

and cut east-to-west through Westlake on Alemany (Cabrillo Highway). If adopted, this route would mean that all homes in Westlake along North Mayfair avenue would have to be removed. This proposed route, according to the state, is about 10 years from reality, but it is a strong possibility and adoption could occur several years in advance.

The Junipero Serra freeway route, north-south through Daly City, is more immediate on the state's construction timetable. Funds for the purchase of right-of-way for this route are available in the state's fiscal budget of 1960-61. Although initial construction could be as much as three years away, the January public hearing in South SF next year could lead to quick adoption of this route.

This Junipero Serra freeway, by state plans, will connect to Edgemar freeway leading to Pacifica off Skyline by traversing through or south of McKeon's St. Francis Heights subdivision or by the east-west route through Westlake.

Earlier, Daly City officials and the city freeway committee went on record for an alternate Junipero Serra route, one that would connect to Edgemar by skirting south of McKeon's land and through property that as yet is undeveloped.

On Junipero Serra itself, the DC-preferred route (by DC officials) would go west of Junipero Serra in front of the golf course, cut behind Mayfair Market, then cross over Junipero Serra to the eastern side, proceeding to the cemeteries, then again cutting across Junipero Serra to the west and curving south of St. Francis Heights to Skyline and the Edgemar freeway interchange.

Pacelli and other DC councilmen, alarmed by the state's "early" hearing on the route next January, are preparing for a swift effort to centralize all data and organization of a solid front in advance of the public hearing.

DOOR LEFT OPEN FOR PAINTERS— BURGLAR ENTERS

Joseph T. Sarto's home at 75 Werner avenue was robbed of a watch worth $75 and a piggy bank containing $30 last Saturday when a thief entered through the unlocked front door — left unlocked to let a painter gain access.

The Villa Sanitarium proprietor told Officer Tom Culley the entry was made between noon and 2 p.m. Sarto's wife noted that her purse had been rifled but nothing was missing. Culley said juveniles probably were responsible.

Salvation Army's 'Red Kettles' Seek Donations To Aid Needy

The Salvation Army's historic Red Christmas Kettles will be set up in the business sections of Peninsula cities the day after Thanksgiving. Money put in these kettles will be used to benefit over 2000 people in San Mateo County.

The idea of the Red Kettles originated in San Francisco. After a shipwreck in 1894, survivors were huddled on a beach in San Francisco and being cared for by The Salvation Army. Food was running low and so were funds. An Army lassie in her blue bonnet took a soup kettle and set it up on a street corner with a sign, "Keep The Pot Boiling." That night there was plenty of soup for all.

The famous kettle, now a symbol for giving, is seen all over the world. Early kettles in Finland helped light the dark streets with their burning candles. In Japan coins dropped into the kettles bought rice cakes for children and in Belgium, painted silver and red, they contained toys for St. Nicholas Day. Locally, the kettles will be manned by members of The Salvation Army. The workers stand eight hour shifts with a ten minute break each hour.

According to Samuel B. Hepburn, The Salvation Army representative for San Mateo County, standing alongside one of these kettles is a true vantage point from which to see real Christmas giving. "It is gratifying to watch children count out pennies and hear each clink into the metal pot; to see a busy shopper rush into the nearest store and return with change for the Army kettle or to observe the business man passing many times during the day but never without something for the Red Kettle," observes Hepburn.

Needy individuals will receive clothing or clothing orders, food or food orders, toys and sometimes a small Christmas tree. Others will benefit by part time work or a nourishing meal. The Salvation Army Christmas giving will also take the form of small useful gifts, packages of candy, toilet articles and magazines to be distributed at the Hassler Health Farm, the Crystal Springs Home, the County Tuberculosis Sanitarium and the County Jail. There will also be a Christmas Party at the Veterans' Hospital and each of the 1400 patients will receive a small gift.

Merchants make space available each year for the kettles.

CITES 'UNNECESSARY' AGENCIES

Francis Blasts Governor Brown For 'Bureaucracy, Extra Taxes'

Charging "wasteful bureaucracy and excessive taxation," Assemblyman Louis Francis of San Mateo blasted Governor Edmund G. Brown and his state administration for increasing burdens upon the people with confiscatory and unnecessary taxation.

Francis made the charges at the Villa Hotel as the speaker at a meeting of the Pro America, San Mateo County Unit, headed by Mrs. George M. Philpott, president.

"Millions of dollars of the people's money will be spent this year and years to come in order to pay for the 20 new state commissions, boards and 1959 session of the State Legislature with sponsorship or approval of the governor," he said.

"This system of centralizing the administration of our state through new and more governmental agencies and officials will be financed by the people. Bureaucracy causes excessive taxation and great wastes in addition to taking the control of government from the people," declared Francis.

"Eventually, bureaucracy," he declared, "can become so confiscatory that it will destroy our government. Meanwhile, it builds a political dynasty of paid campaigners throughout the state to further the ambitions of a new ambitious governor who has presidential aspirations, all at the people's expense!"

Francis particularly pointed out recent legislation permitting the governor to appoint high state positions, contrary to the established civil service system.

He specifically cited, as an example of the 20 new agencies, the creation in the Department of Finance of the Economic Development Agency to be headed by a commissioner with an annual salary of $16,500. The new agency received an initial appropriation of $225,000 for a partial year. It is authorized to spend an additional $335,754 on a nine-month basis for a staff of 48 positions.

Some of the other new agencies include the Capitol Building and Planning Commission, Committee to Encourage Selection, Performance and Publication of Music of Merit by Western Composers, Advisory Board of Collection Agencies, Fairs Allocation and Classification Committee, Division of Conservation in Department of Corrections, Fish and Seafood Advisory Board, State Office of Planning, Planning Advisory Committee, Committee on Accounting Procedures, and the Water Resources Development Finance Committee.

In undertaking this discussion the students explained the kind of power the Communists are building, foreign policy tools of the Russians, and Communism's challenge to United States foreign policy.

Allen F. Sandstrom, 19, 250 Bel Mar avenue, Daly City, was placed under arrest as being drunk after he reportedly berated police officers for questioning a group of teenagers as to the whereabouts of Stuart Betz.

Betz was being sought last Monday at midnight for allegedly beating Gary Bothum, 19, 151 Bellevue avenue, after a drinking party at Sandstrom's residence. Bothum was standing on the sidewalk with his face bloodied when police arrived. He claimed Betz inflicted the punishment.

Sandstrom interfered when police were questioning the other teenagers at the drinking party. The youngsters were sent on their way while Sandstrom was being booked by officer Jim Bergstrom.

TV and Radio

By Mona Baker

With all the adverse publicity concerning TV quiz shows, it is most reasuring to know there is another side to television. Somehow this story never makes the headlines. Quietly without fanfare, educational channels throughout the nation are daily airing quality programs that are having a tremendous impact on youngsters and adults alike. One of the continuing problems for these stations is money. At long last, this problem is on the way to being solved.

Last week we attended a congressional hearing held in KQED studios by Representatives John A. Moss (D.-Calif.) and William H. Avery (R.-Kansas) who are conducting a nation-wide survey investigating federal aid to educational television stations. In the spring Congress will consider a total of seven House bills and one Senate in favor of federal assistance.

Appearing before the committee were many distinguished community leaders including KQED General Manager James Day, Dr. Harvey White, renowned for TV series "Continental Classroom" (NBC, KRON-TV), and from San Mateo County, James Tormey, superintendent of schools. Dr. White said that educational television is the solution to many problems in education, and gave an imuressive demonstration of what the TV camera can accomplish that is not possible in classroom. He said "if we had television 40 years ago, we would be using television today instead of large auditoriums in colleges."

Following the hearing, we talked briefly to Mr. Tormey. He told us that all San Mateo County elementary school districts within reception area except two, Jefferson and Belmont, are participating in KQED's in-school programs. We contacted District Superintendent Richard L. Foster for reasons as to why Jefferson is not participating. He told us "we have been carefully reviewing the possibility of educational television in Jefferson Elementary School District. Because of reception difficulties in part of District we have waited until the station began its programs for the 1959-60 school year in order that we might observe the offerings, including an analysis of reception difficulties. Within the next couple of months we will be ready to make a recommendation to our board of trustees for their consideration. It is my firm belief that educational television is a valuable educational tool to help a highly qualified teacher with the instructional program."

We are tremendously encouraged by the possibility that next year KQED's school program can really go forward, helped by federal funds. Do write your congressmen and Representatives Moss and Avery in support of federal aid in this vital work.

Daly City Woman Takes Cruise On Aircraft Carrier

Mrs. Nora Scoma, her daughter and grandaughter, joined some 1800 families of USS Ranger crewmen on a recent special cruise that took them as far out as the Farallones islands.

The Daly City woman, of 298 Los Banos avenue, took the tour as guest of her daughter's husband, Louis L. Sherwood, an aviation maintenance specialist on the huge aircraft carrier.

The cruise was a part of the Navy's "Dependents' Day" program.

Bodey is the company's PIO or news releaser. He comes up with timely stories about his unit for local papers.

Tom is a freshman at City College of San Francisco. He is majoring in photo-journalism under Joan Nourse, a Stanford grad we had for an instructor shortly before World War 2½—Korea.

Bodey some day hopes to go into business as a freelance writer-photographer. He lives at 1535 Sweetwood drive.

Daly Cityzens are proud of their ever-growing list of all-faiths churches, particularly this Thanksgiving week when the pews are a bit more heavily occupied.

No less than 18 congregations worship here.

There are three Catholic churches (Our Lady of Mercy, Holy Angels and Our Lady of Perpetual Help), the Jewish congregations of Temple Judea and B'nai Israel, three Baptist churches, two Presbyterian, two Lutheran, and one each of the Methodist, Episcopalian, Christian, Evangelical, and Assembly of God philosophies.

The world is small department.

This week whilst writing a wedding story in crude masculine form (tiptoeing carefully over the usual lady-like descriptions and phrases about what the bride wore, et cetera), we learned that Janet Hackley's new hubby is the brother of classmate of ours in the old days at Balboa High.

Janet toils for Daly City diligently in the public works office. Her husband's brother was this scribe's running mate for the Balboa gridders (gym class leagues, that is).

John Mongan and Glenn South, principals of Daly City's two high schools, have more responsibilities than meet the casual estimate.

With more than 2500 students in their care five days a week, nine months a year, the administrators don't have much spare time.

Students who have unusual problems always end up in the principal's office—many times with their parents. The head man then has two considerations to make—what's best for the youngsters and how to explain to their parents how improvements can be made.

Principals are not truant officers or disciplinarians by choice. Rather they would prefer to be judged as leaders, available at any time for constructive advice and criticism.

Gents like Mongan and South in particular do take a personal interest in all their youngsters. This job takes countless hours, patience and understanding.

Daly City has two fine principals. We know because we have heard much praise for Mongan and South from the Big Three — parents, teachers and most important — the students themselves.

No, things aren't so tough in Pacifica politics that Mayor Jean Fassler has left town.

Jean Fassler does live in Daly City. But she's not the gracious gal who's chairman of the Pacifica Council.

DC's Jean Fassler resides at 1098 87th street in Westlake. She's publicity chairman for Riordan High School's ladies' guild.

Like Pacifica's Jean, DC's Jean doesn't get involved in politics. Pacifica's mayor is one of the "least political" office holders we've come across. Win or lose next election, she has done much for the Coastside city.

Mayor Edward Dennis, a milk drivers' union president for more than a dozen years, has decided to move from his long-time Mateo avenue residence on the east side of Daly City.

Ed has chosen a fairly new dwelling on Hillside boulevard for his wife, Hilda, and daughter Carolyn, a student at SF State.

He's the only councilman of five who doesn't live in Westlake.

Harvey, a freshman at City College of San Francisco, once ran for the Jeff High track team.

If he lives, he may never run again.

JESD Teachers Donate $1500 To Crusade

The Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association of Jefferson Elementary District this fall have contributed $1500 to the Bay Area United Crusade.

The Crusade drive was participated in by every school in the district and the average contribution per teacher exceeds that of other occupational quotas.

Janet Hackley Becomes Mrs. Nicholas Leaskou In Greek Church Vows

Janet Hackley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hackley, 55 Woodrow street, Daly City, became the wife of Nicholas Leaskou in a ceremony on October 18 at the Greek Orthodox Church of the Annunciation in San Francisco.

The young couple were united in rites performed by the Rev. Meletios Tripodakis and the Rev. John Liadis.

Janet is a graduate of Balboa High School and attended City College of San Francisco. At present she is employed by the city of Daly City as a secretary in the public works department.

Nick, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Leaskou of 1145 Cayuga avenue, San Francisco, also was graduated from Balboa High and attended City College. He studied at the Academy of Art and works for the Patterson and Hall commercial art firm in San Francisco. Nick served in the Air Force three years.

His older brother, Jim Leaskou, is a graduate of University of California, while the groom's younger brother, Mike, was an All-City basketball star at Lowell High and won a scholarship to USC.

Donna Hackley, the bride's sister, served Janet as maid of honor. Also attending her were bridesmaids Mrs. Richard Major and Mrs. Joseph Nessigner, her cousins; and Mrs. James Ward.

Best man was Nicholas Caranica of San Francisco.

Pauline Chosich, the groom's cousin, was flower girl, carrying a white basket with baby roses, and Nicholas Chosich, Pauline's brother, carried the silver tray of crowns, traditional in the Greek ceremony.

Special guests were Mrs. Anna Peterson, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. James Macri, the groom's Godparents, from Woodland, California.

Janet wore a gorgeous white satin wedding gown styled along empire lines with a sabrina neckline. The bodice and sleeves were of re-embroidered lace, and the gown was accented by a draped bustle back and chapel train.

Her elbow-length illusion veil was topped by a crown of waxed orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and a white orchid.

The reception featured buffet dinner for 265 guests at the House of Lawton. Janet and Nick sliced a four-tier wedding cake. Dancing to a three-piece orchestra followed the dinner.

The newlyweds, who have established their home on Hillside boulevard here, went to the Lake Tahoe area for their honeymoon.

'TEMPORARY EMBARRASSMENT'

State Expenditures Top Revenues After 4 Months Of Fiscal Year

The state of California went in the hole at the rate of $8 a second during the first four months of the current fiscal year.

But there was reassurance in State Controller Alan Cranston's statement today that the long-range picture is not so grim.

Cranston's regular monthly statement on the status of the general fund disclosed that July-through-October revenues totaled $361,692,957, while expenditures came to $445,893,882.

Thus, the state spent $84,200,925 more than it received during the four-month period.

"The general fund's embarrassment is only temporary," Cranston said. "The second half of the fiscal year will be the best half for revenues."

Cranston has said repeatedly that the general fund probably will end the year in balance.

"The current revenue dry spell was reflected in all forecasts," he said. "It will continue through January, and then the state's fiscal condition will take a turn for the better. Revenues should catch up with expenditures before next June 30."

The general fund already is in debt $35 million to the architecture revolving fund and will have to borrow approximately $15 million more from the same source within the next few days, Cranston said.

October general fund revenues were $70,851,287, while expenditures were $112,773,427.

Greatest revenue sources so far this fiscal year have been the sales tax, $215,675,222; bank and corporation franchise and income taxes, $58,817,865, and cigarette tax, $22,661,344.

UNDERPRIVILEGED BOYS

Annual Report On Hanna Center Cites Its Constructive Training

The newspaper was asked this week to submit to Daly City area residents the tenth annual report of one of California's most unusual corporations.

The non-profit corporation is Hanna Boys' Center, the California "boys' town" built near Sonoma entirely by voluntary contributions and bequests, many of them from this part of the state. The director of the home for 120 underprivileged boys of all races and creeds, the Rt. Rev. William L. O'Connor, expressed appreciation to the many local residents whose help has been partially responsible for the fact that Hanna Center recently welcomed the 650th boy to find a home in the attractive little "town" in the Valley of the Moon. The youngster arrived in time for the coming tenth anniversary of the home on December 4.

Many of the center's young "alumni" and their families are expected to return to their former home this Sunday, November 29, for an anniversary "open house" to which all Californians interested in the little community are invited.

The director reported that 1959 has been highlighted by extensive development of the center's ranch program, under the direction of members of the home's volunteer board of directors. Further progress, he said, depends upon continued favorable response to an annual letter of appeal which he sends, for the boys, to many California homes. Sympathetic response to this letter is vital, since it is the center's principal source of income.

The year has brought further development of the home's academic school, and the trade school program. The latter includes training in such fields as carpentry, electricity, general mechanics, metals and printing, and the effort is made to train each lad for productive citizenship through knowledge of the elements of a useful skill.

Over the ten years, the primary aim of the center has been the prevention of delinquency before it becomes a fact. The effort is made to give a real home to the boy whose circumstances are such that he is, through little or no fault of his own, "pre-delinquent," or "potentially delinquent." The goal is to begin working with the individual boy before he makes a misstep costly to himself and to society. In 1959, these boys came from many areas, including three lads from Alaska, but over the years the bulk of the boys have come from California.

Material progress over Hanna Center's first decade has been marked by the construction of three new cottage-dormitories (doubling the home's capacity); three additional school rooms; and the building of the trade school and an all-purpose auditorium. Much more important to the center is the fact that the boys who have left to make their own ways in the world are succeeding in many fields. They include young men leading respectful, productive lives while working in such varied professions as electronics, law, ranching and all of the military services.

This area is represented on the home's board of directors by Lawrence R. McDonnell, 170 Wilshire avenue.

First Nickel Steel in Autos

It is believed that the first use of nickel alloy steel in automobiles was made in 1899, when it was employed for the axle of a machine made by Haynes-Apperson Company. This vehicle made a successful 1000-mile trip from Kokomo, Indiana, to New York City without serious breakdown—a remarkable feat in those days.

19 Brownies In Overnight Campout Here

Nineteen fourth grade Brownie Girl Scouts of Troop 124 of Daly City enjoyed their first overnight campout on November 6, in the backyard of Mrs. Anita Spinetti, 57 Muirwood drive.

The night was warm and especially made to order for the novice campers who slept outside in sleeping bags. This close-to-home experience will qualify them next year as Intermediate Scouts to an overnight in day camp. That in turn will give them the needed qualification for the established camp, Sonora, in the High Sierras.

The little Brownies, most of whom are 9 and 10-year-olds, not only planned and shopped for their supplies, but also cooked, served, and cleaned up afterwards, giving them excellent practice in outdoor living.

Friday night's program included snacks around a campfire with a program of skits, songs, and games. Saturday morning the girls prepared a breakfast of buckwheat cakes, sausages, orange juice, and chocolate.

Mrs. Barbara Senkir, leader, was assisted by Mrs. Spinetti and Mrs. Kay Bogden. Dolores and Joann Spinetti acted as senior aides to the youngsters.

Studebaker Cites High Lark Sales

Retail deliveries of new Studebaker Larks during the first month following 1960 model introduction on October 15 were 46.6 per cent over deliveries during the comparable month a year ago, S. A. Skillman, Studebaker-Packard Corporation vice president and general sales manager, announced today.

Studebaker's market penetration for the month was 2.87 per cent, in comparison with 2.25 per cent a year ago.

Skillman said that dealers' reports indicate that 9.6 per cent of S-P's retail deliveries during the first ten days of November were Lark convertibles, almost double the industry average for soft tops.

"With the only American made convertible in the compact car field," he added, "Studebaker will be in a strong sales position in the growing convertible market which last year rose to five per cent of the total industry output."

Advance orders for the 1960 line of Larks are the largest received for Studebaker models in the past five years.

"Analysis of these orders show customer preference gains in four-door models and V-8 engines, reflecting a growing public desire for quality of performance and passenger comfort along with economy in the Lark-size car field," Skillman explained.

"Orders for V-8 engines have increased from 25.84 per cent during the 1959 model year to 45.12 per cent of current production," he continued. All models are being offered in a choice of six cylinder or V-8 engines.

"Four-door models now account for 47.38 per cent of current orders compared to 37.59 per cent of 1959 production. This gain is due largely to the introduction of the four-door station wagon.

"Sedans are still the most popular models, however," Skillman said, "accounting for 54.77 per cent of advance orders."

Westlake Couple Are Students At Famed Mexico City College

MEXICO CITY (Specail to THE RECORD) — Mrs. Barbara Susan Linse, wife of A. W. Linse, 54 Westdale avenue Daly City, is studying south of the border at Mexico City College, the only American-type liberal arts college in Latin America. According to statistics released by the Institute of International Education, the college has a larger enrollment of America Students outside the borders of the United States than any other university abroad, including the Sorbonne in Paris.

At MCC all classes are taught English, except for a few in the graduate school. The credit system is the same as in U.S. colleges and universities. Courses of study, taught by a distinguished international faculty educated in Europe, Latin America and the United States, lead to the B.A. and M.A. degrees. Average enrollment is more or less 1000 students a quarter.

Mrs. Linse is living in Mexico City with her husband and is studying education in the graduate school at MCC. She received her B.A. degree at San Jose State College and her M.A. at San Francisco State College. She has taught school in both elementary schools and colleges.

The college, now in its twentieth year, is situated about 20 minutes' drive from Mexico's cosmopolitan capital city. From the beautifully landscaped and tree-shaded campus, one can catch breathtaking views of the twin snow-capped volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, and the equally magnificent sight of the city sprawled out over the floor of the Valley of Mexico.

Mexico City offers innumerable pleasures and diversions ranging from the theater, art shows, concerts and museums to bull fights, horse racing and the fastest sport in the world, jai alai. And never too far away for a weekend or short vacation jaunt are famous resorts such as Acapulco and Veracruz or the archeological sites of Tula, Teotihuacan and Mitla.

MCC students come from a wide variety of countries and cultural backgrounds. Each quarter nearly every U.S. state plus numerous foreign countries are represented among the student body. On and off campus, MCC students put into practice the principle of international goodwill and return home richer and more mature from the broadening experience.

Most MCC students live in college approved homes with Mexican families. By learning something of each other's language and customs, ties of friendship between the people of the two countries are strengthened.

Early Nickel Steel Alloy

An alloy steel containing four per cent nickel and two per cent chromium was first exhibited at the Paris Exposition in 1900. Originally developed for armor plate, this steel in modified form remains an outstanding high-strength alloy steel for large sections.

TROUBLED TIMES.—The happy spirit of Thanksgiving week has completely escaped this group of gloomy gobblers as they ignore the overtures of a lad from Hanna Boys' Center, the Western "boys' town" near Sonoma, Calif. The youngster checked over the melancholy birds on a Valley of the Moon turkey ranch prior to the Thanksgiving dinner celebrating the tenth anniversary of the home for underprivileged boys.

SOMEBODY CARED: At an orphanage in Korea, children utter prayers of thanks for the food sent to them by Americans through CARE. Goal of the Holiday-season CARE Food Crusade campaign is to send 4 million packages of U.S. farm foods and other staples, at $1 per package, to orphans, refugees and other needy people in 15 countries. Contributions may be sent to CARE Food Crusade, 444 Market street, San Francisco.

Something For Everyone

BY
SAMUEL CHANDLER
City Librarian

I heard three men talk about books. The first quoted Abraham Lincoln, "All I want to know is in books, and my best friend is one who gives me a great book that I haven't read." This reminded me of the many good friends of the people of Daly City who have given great books to the public library.

Outstanding among these books are a set of "classics" that were given last spring by the Friends of the Daly City Public Library, an Anthology of American stories, a complete set of the "Harvard Classics," a collection of Bibles. One gift that arrived today that will prove useful to the people who learn to use it is the Duncan Hines set consisting of two books: "Lodging for a Night," and "Adventures in Good Eating." These two are representative of the books that are sent annually by business houses.

The second man said, "Without books God is silent; justice is dead." This statement suggested to my mind some recent additions to the Daly City Library that in some way or other speak of God or justice or both. One of these is Taylor Caldwell's "Dear and Glorious Physician," a novel about St. Luke. Another to be considered is "Brave New World Revisited" by Aldous Huxley. This is a very significant book. Some recent novels that say some important things about justice in our society or "Threescore and Ten" by Walter Allen, "Mountolive" by Lawrence Durrell, "Fandango Rock" by John Masters, "The Chains of Love" by Zoe Oldenbourg, "The Crown and The Cross" by Frank Slaughter, and "Spring Harvest" by Gladys Taber. Each of these books tells a good story besides casting a new viewpoint on God and justice.

The third man that I heard talk about books said that the best way to get rid of negative thoughts is to read positive books. This reminded me of the new biography of that gentleman of positive thinking, Norman Vincent Peale. This book is by Arthur Gordon. Some other important books are R. L. Bruckberger's "Image of America," "The Nature of Retirement" by Moore, "The Letters of Theodore Roosevelt," "From Wealth to Welfare" by Gervetz, "The American Family System by Woods." There are many more about this subject and nearly every conceivable subject.

The Public Libraries in Daly City are at 34 Park Plaza drive and 6351 Mission street.

DC Students Make Tour Of 'Metropolitan'

Metropolitan Life Insurance Building, 600 Stockton street, San Francisco was the recent destination of Westmoor High School's secretarial training class.

Since most of the students in the class plan to become secretaries or office workers, they felt that a visit to such an efficient and large office would be enlightening.

With Mr. Reichel of the Personnel Division arranging the tours, the group visited the entire seven-floor structure. They viewed with particular interest the large I.B.M. machines, filing rooms, transcription rooms and mailing rooms. One of the highlights of the tour was an informal talk with three top secretaries and two beginning stenographers at Metroplitan Life. These personnel gave valuable pointers on their type of werk.

In the discussion period following the tour, Reichel explained the company's testing and hiring procedures and the general employment situation.

Westmoor students also enjoyed a typical coffee break and lunch as guests of Metropolitan Life. Of great interest to the many was the fact that the company offers as one of its benefits free coffee and rolls for coffee break and also a free lunch.

Colma K-6 Kids Visit Nursery

"What do you do with all that sawdust?" asked George Wallace.

"It is put in the flower pots as a disinfectant to prevent the spread of a fungus growth that often appears in potted plants," replied Andrew Podesta.

This conversation was on the occasion of a visit of Mrs. Elvera Cody's fifth grade class of Colma K-6 School to the Podesta Hothouses on Lisbon avenue, Daly City.

The tour started in the furnace room which provides heat for all the hothouses. The chrysanthemums were enjoying the warmest temperatures. There were numerous stages of growth in this area—those in bloom for Thanksgiving sales, those to bloom for the Christmas market, and those for future blooming. The growth and bloom is partially controlled by electric light.

"We didn't do this five years ago," remarked Podesta. "The black curtains for light control are comparatively new." (These hothouses were started about 40 years ago.)

There were thousands of vari-colored cyclamen plants. These, too, were in different stages of bloom, but less controlled. Some are ready for the immediate market, others will not bloom until a year from now.

Other produce included are azaleas, poinsettia, coleus, philadendron, rubber plants, camellias—for bloom and varied tropical plants.

Podesta stated that they maintain a shop at the San Francisco Flower Market, but that much of their produce is shipped to other regions of the Bay Area, to Los Angeles, and as far north as Portland and into the state of Washington.

Claudia Eckton, class president, thanked Podesta for the tour.

NEED ADVICE ON ADDING EXTRA ROOM?

"We looked for a house with four bedrooms and two bathrooms but couldn't find one, so we decided to modernize our own house by adding another bedroom and a bathroom."

This is a typical statement heard almost every day by officials of the Plumbing Industry of San Mateo County who are continuing their all-out drive for modernization of all plumbing facilities in San Mateo County.

An older home with sound construction, located in a desirable peninsula neighborhood, offers many advantages to the family wishing to increase its size.

Often the appearance of a house is improved by the addition of a wing consisting of a bedroom and bathroom, assert Plumbing Industry officials and certainly the living qualities of the home are improved.

It is pointed out that in most mortgages provision is made for simply adding the cost of the new bedroom and bathroom facilities to the entire life of the mortgage or extension of the mortgage, so that monthly payments need only be increased slightly, if at all.

Or, if this is not possible under the mortgage you hold, the cost can be handled under an FHA home improvement loan and paid off separately.

The Plumbing Industry of San Mateo County offers suggestions for assistance to homeowners without cost or obligation. Their office is located at 132 West 25th avenue, San Mateo.

DECEMBER 6

KING, QUEEN TO BE CHOSEN AT OLPH CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

Politicians do not have the market cornered when it comes to campaign speeches. This fact may be proved any school day at Daly City's Our Lady of Perpetual Help School where eight moppets from the lower four classes are doing their best to gather in votes for the envied title of "Queen and King" of the Mothers' Club Christmas Bazaar.

The bazzar will take place in the school auditorium, 80 Wellington avenue, on Sunday, December 6, and the high point of the day for two happy youngsters at least, will be when the coveted crowns are placed on their heads and they are pronounced kind and queen for the day. Many other treats will be given the happy pair as they are escorted in their royal robes to a festive table where, in spite of the flashing of proud parents' cameras, they will feast on a royal meal.

Purchasers of investment tickets for the beautiful lane cedar chest filled with linens will be entitled to a vote for the candidate of their choice. Tickets may be obtained from club members and Mrs. William Gonzales, chairman, PL 6-0987.

The following candidates were selected on the basis of scholarship and good conduct and general all-around good citizenship:

First graders, Brian Phemester and Colleen McClung; second graders, Yolanda Golifni and Mark Cambra; third graders, Janet Calegari and Victor Gray; fourth graders, Nancy Nichols and Jerald McQuaid.

The class which has the victorious king and queen will also receive a trophy, with the children's names enscribed on it, to be kept all year.

Cancer Society Chairmen Seek More Volunteers

Sixty San Mateo county Cancer Society chairmen and co-chairmen representing virtually every community, gathered at the annual meeting of leaders in San Mateo and heard of the imperative need to spur the current cancer research survey to reach 2300 families in this area.

President Mrs. Edward H. Jenanyan of Redwood City and North Hillsborough Chairman Mrs. Charles F. Simmons outlined the requirements of the survey and the special questionnaire being distributed. It is completely confidential, it was emphasized.

"We have a very great need for more group workers, each of whom can contact 10 families," explained Mrs. Jenanyan. "We can consider it a privilege to be included in this monumental nationwide survey which is covering 500,000 families. The questionnaire answers will be processed through IBM machines in our New York headquarters. The result will be to give us far more comprehensive information than the earlier five-year study which established the relationship between smoking and lung cancer," she said.

"It is anticipated that at the end of six years, sufficient information will have been gathered to verify or disprove many theories about cancer which cannot be readily tested in the laboratory," explained Mrs. Jenanyan and Mrs. Simmons. "We need the help of every discerning family in the country. This survey is aimed at saving our lives," noted Mrs. Jenanyan.

Those interested in participating are urged to contact the county CS headquarters at 320 Third avenue in San Mateo. At least 12 more group workers are needed.

Introduced to the gathering from the head table were Junior Past President Mrs. Albert A. Hedge of Menlo Park; Service Chairman Mrs. Charles E. Hoffman of San Mateo, and First Vice President Mrs. Conrad Lazzareschi of Atherton.

Mrs. Jenanyan also reported on the appointment of Mrs. W. Parmer Fuller Jr. of Hillsborough, internationally known volunteer leader in the field of cancer, as an honorary life member of the American Cancer Society. "Commander Emeritus" of San Mateo county, she has held top state and national offices. Mrs. Jenanyan noted, "This special tribute to Mrs. Fuller brings great honor to our own county branch which she has been so instrumental in developing and supporting, and whose efforts she has long encouraged and inspired.

Present from this area were: Mrs. Evelyn Hatch of Miramar and Mrs. Claire Borley, Half Moon Bay; Mrs. Martha Cohn, Daly City; and Mrs. Blanche Lagomarsino, P.O. Box 1767, and Mrs. Rene Vallerga, 448 E street, Colma.

Cagers Get Ready At Jeff High

While the footballs are being put away this week at Jeff High, Coach Mike Orlich is readying his varisty basketballers for the 1959-60 season by rolling out the round balls.

The first practice game for the varsity and 130's is Thursday, December 3, when Washington High treks to the Indian gym for the 3:15 p.m. contest. Orlich notes that all practice games will start at this time.

Last year Jeff tied with Westmoor for fifth place in the Peninsula League and Orlich hopes to better this mark with a young squad, possibly starting an all junior team against Washington.

Sorely missed from last year's club will be All-League forward Roy Reitz and bucket popping Ernie Howren. An All-Peninsula 130 player last year, Gary Molossi, will try take up the slack left by Reitz' graduation. Orlich hopes that Molossi will be as effective on the varsity but says the junior will have to "prove himself in this caliber of competition."

Molossi, 6-0, will be joined by Junior classmates: John Sousa, 6-1; Sacred Heart transfer Jeff Vozzo, 6-1; Paul Zingrich, 6-2; and Gary Bonini, 6-3.

Seniors on the team are letterman Art Banos, 5-11; Jack Horn, 6-1; Pat Bell, 5-11; Karl Keeling, 5-11; Rich Mertola, 5-Keeling, 5-11; Rich Mertola, 5-10; and J. B. Berry, 6-1. Ely, Nevada transfer Hiram Sibley, 6-3, may be of great help as the season wears on.

Orlich was sorry to scratch the name of Alan Lee, 6-2, from his list of hopefuls. Lee suffered a broken collarbone in a recent football game. He was a starter last year.

Tony DiVirgilio, another All-PL choice last year on the 130's, will be back with that team to help that five and Coach Rich Warne. The lightweights finished only one game behind league leading Capuchino with a sterling 10-4 season finale.

Following the Washington contest, the Indians have games slated with Sacred Heart (December 8) and Mission (December 9). The Peninsula League tournament runs from December 10 through 12.

Other contests are against Lincoln, there, Redding on December 19, the Palo Alto tourney from the 21 through 23, Polytechnic on the 29th and San Rafael on January 5.

Jeff JV's Finish Winning Season With 7-7 Tie

Jeff High's junior varsity footballers ended the season with a 3-2-1 record, finishing the campaign by tying San Mateo, 7-7, last week on the Bearcats' field.

It took only three plays for the San Mateans to score and lead Coach Harry Vaplon's crew, 7-0. The Indians scored their only touchdown with 5 seconds left before the half.

End Jim Belvin recovered a San Mateo fumble on the Bearcat35. John Mazzella's 5-yard pass to Robert Brush accounted for the Jeff six-pointer. Bob Guerrero circled right end for the tying point.

JEFFERSON MAULED AS PETERS SCORES 30

Last week Jefferson's Indians were run over by a steam engine known as Ron Peters who scored five touchdowns in leading Hillsdale to a 47-0 massacre. Peters bowled the Indians over like ten-pins while rushing for 4 TD's and scoring one on a pass from Woody King.

Peters gained 136 yards rushing in all. Jeff was led by Art Banos who gained 85 yards on 14 carries to become one of the dim bright-lights of the locals.

Banos' 6-yard average was helped along by Bob Nielson who gained 16 yards on 6 carries. Outside of these two the rushing game of the Indians was stymied. They ended the tilt with a total rushing yardage of 79.

Roger Stahl completed 4 of 11 passes, Tony Montalbo, 2 for 4 and Doug MacArthur, 1 for 6, for an over-all total of 48 yards. Banos led in pass receptions with four for 32 yards.

Due to the Thanksgiving holiday and the move-up in the publication date of this paper the final results of the South San Francisco-Jefferson High game, played Wednesday wasn't known.

The rivalry between these two schools dates back to 1924 and the over-all record since then is SSF 18 wins, Jeff 12 and four ties. Last year Jeff took a 6-0 victory to move further up on the South City team in total wins.

Worst loss at the hands of the Warriors came in the opening year when the South City eleven plastered the locals, 50-0. In 1925 the SSF crew scored their second consecutive shutout, this time by 25-0. Jeff finally made the grade in 1928 by gaining a 13-7 decision.

The 1957 nudging was the closest game when Jeff won 20-19. South City has twice as many white-washings over the years. They won 8 blankings while the Indians have won four by barring the door.

DON MOSSI made a visit to his former Coach Joe Sarto here last week. Sarto, a baseball backer and avid sports fan, flew back for the World Series this year. He noted that Al Lopez, manager of the American League-winning White Sox and former mentor of Mossi at Cleveland, said the 29-year-old Detroit hurler should win 20 games next year. The former Jeff High star won 17 last year as a major league starter. THE RECORD photo

'Museum On Wheels' Gives County Students Initiative In Science

The new "Naturemobile" or museum-on-wheels planned by the San Mateo County Junior Museum is attracting nationwide attention, according to Director Charles Hice.

Schools and teachers throughout the county are showing a keen interest in this project, which is designed to bring visual scientific material to hundreds of classrooms unable to participate regularly, because of transportation problems, in Junior Museum programs at Coyote Point.

The 30-foot trailer pulled by a heavy eight-passenger truck wagon is being equipped with ten striking scientific displays which tell the fascinating story of the earth and its inhabitants, both plant and animal. Artist-zoologist Keith Nelson of the University of California and Science Educator Carole Kemnitz are assisting with exhibit construction and lighting.

The mobile unit, staffed by trained personnel, will be available to all county schools in January on a scheduled basis and is expected to reach 60,000 youngsters annually. Two thousand teachers will be furnished with advance exhibit information. Displays will be changed each year.

Participating schools pay for museum service on the basis of ten cents per average daily attendance per year. The Junior Museum is a private, nonprofit corporation geared to stimulate youths' interest in science.

The Junior Museum auxiliary donated $5000 for the mobile unit, and another $3000 is needed for scientific equipment. To raise this sum, community service organizations are being invited to sponsor each of the ten initial exhibits on an annual basis. Classifications include "The Earth in Space," "What's the Earth made of?" "Plant Factories," "The Plant World," "Balance of Nature," "What Is an Animal?" "Carbon, the Living Atom," "Climbing Through the Ages," "Animals We Live With," and "Animal Adaptations."

The new seaman recruits are: Harold R. Willis Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Willis, 1053 Gilman drive, Colma; and from Daly City—Douglas W. Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Schmidt, 98 Templeton avenue; Edward V. Aicardi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Damiano Aicardi, 221 Hillside boulevard; and Clifford J. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Thomas, 172 Miriam street.

Upon completion of nine weeks of "boot" training, they will be granted fourteen days leave before reporting to their first duty stations.

Ram Buccelli Has Good Time In NCS Finals

Westmoor sophomore Jim Buccelli racked up the best time for a Peninsula League athlete in Saturday's North Coast Section cross-country trials at Stanford—a spectacle dominated by the Palo Alto, Castro Valley and Los Altos squads.

Buccelli finished fifth in his heat in a clocking of 10 minutes and 19 seconds—the best effort of the day by a Peninsula Leaguer.

His teammates Ron Klingler, Chuck Dake, Glen Stenstrom and Jim Beeler, also turned in commendable efforts.

Coach Ernie Ribera's Ram runners, Peninsula League champions a year ago, finished third in the league championship meet two weeks ago. San Mateo won the title with 63 points and Jefferson of Daly City was second with 66. Westmoor's tally was 69. In cross-country, low points represent the top team.

Jeff's Bob Alverio won the Peninsula League championship race, Buccelli was second, and Jeff's Anibal Davila was third—giving Daly City athletes a clean sweep.

Westmoor's varsity cross-country team finished the campaign with a 4-3 league dual meet record.

Touch Football Leagues Head Toward Finish

The Department of Parks and Recreation's touch football leagues tightened up last week, and start the final three weeks of play this Saturday.

In the eighth grade league, PAL remained in first place by bouncing Ben Franklin, 38-0. Led by quarterback Ron Calavano, OLPH upset the BYA Colts, 14-12, to move into second place. The defensive work of OLPH's George Barrier was outstanding.

In the seventh grade league, last place OLPH rose to the occasion and tied with league-leading Daly City Merchants, 8-8. The tie moves OLPH to fourth place. Second place Snell-BYA Stars led by Martin Jaspovice and Jim Frost defeated PAL, 12-6.

The sixth grade league lead remained in the hands of PAL, although they were beaten by the BYA Rams, 12-0. The Rams moved into second place with this win. The BYA 49ers defeated the last-place Ben Franklin Midgets, 20-0. OLPH evened their record at 3-3 by defeating PAL Devilpups, 13-8. The win was OLPH's third straight.

In the 5ifth grade league, the Tigers moved into a first-place tie with the BYA Hawks. The Tigers licked OLPH, 18-6.

SAN MATEO	14	13	0	6—33

Jere Takahashi's 165 rushing yards paced San Mateo past Westmoor, 33-13, at the losers field last Friday.

The Bearcats moved out to a 27-0 lead by halftime but as the day grew colder the pitching arms of Jim Heick and Steve Funai grew warmer and the Mateans had to stave off a second half threat.

Westmoor, badly manhandled in the first half, came out in the second stanza and proved they weren't to be sitting ducks. After only completing one pass in the first half, Heick and Funai, alternating, began to hit the target.

Two roughing the passer penalties within the 15 yard stripe aided the Rams and Webb Parker went into the end zone standing up for the final yard on fourth down.

Nine plays later Walt Prouty caught a 16 yard pass over his left shoulder, being no more than six inches from the out-of-bounds marker for the TD.

San Mateo's final tally came within two minutes of the fourth quarter.

Westmoor threatened once again but Charley Borg intercepted a Funai pass on his own 7 and returned to the 25 to erase the chance.

BANOS, BOLLENTINI, HANSON 'WINNERS' THOUGH LOSERS

Player of the week awards were recently given to Daly City youths for their outstanding play from Warren Wyncoop of the Artvogue Array of Stars prep radio show.

Receiving sports shirts for their outstanding play were Westmoor end Chris Hanson, Jeff halfback Art Banos and sophomore guard Joe Bollentini.

Hanson was a "bear" on defense though San Mateo downed the Rams, 33-13, last week. Banos' ball carrying for 85 yards, though having little help in blocking form teammates, and pass catching made him a standout in the 47-0 loss to Hillsdale.

Bollentini's play was superior in the Westmoor game, where he helped Jeff to close up the gap in the middle line when Ram runners charged in that direction.

INDIAN FROSH FOOTBALLERS FINISH THIRD

Jeff's frosh football squad finished third in the Peninsula League as a result of their 26-13 victory over South San Francisco.

The Indians took a 19-0 lead before the Warriors could get on the scoreboard. Jack Durham's run of 31 yards capped an 85-yard drive in 3 plays for the first touchdown. In the second quarter the Indians widened the margin as Dan Hermosillo and Durham collaborated on a 79-yard touchdown pass and run.

Later in the same period Larry Keeling set up his own one-yard plunge by reeling off 23 yards on a scamper. Hermosillo's pass to Larry Ahuna accounted for the extra point.

It took the Jeff squad 12 plays to gain 45 yards and their final TD. Keeling did the honors from 10 yards out. Hermosillo passed to his brother, Sam, for the conversion.

Watt said that Dan Hermosillo was his outstanding backfield man for the year and gave like credit to Al Lonstrom in the line.
